Letter from the Menahel:

Dear Parents,

"Three weeks" represent a significant number in Yiddishkeit, a period of time that is significant in making an impact. We celebrate three weeks of yom tov and three weeks of mourning each year. The three-week period is spoken about in gemoro and expounded upon in chassidus.

With the final three weeks of Cheder upon us, I have embarked upon a campaign to encourage talmidim to end the year on a high note. The name of the program is from strength to strength and it builds upon a selected number of steps of self-purification taught in Chazal.

Zerizus - alacrity

Talmidim are noticed and rewarded for timeliness in all areas of the day.

Nekiyus - cleanliness (orderly)

Talmidim are noticed, encouraged, and rewarded for keeping themselves and their immediate surroundings clean and organized.

Kedusha and chassidus

Talmidim are encouraged, recognized, and noted for increased vitality in their davening and learning.

We encourage you to reinforce these values at home by using the same language and highlighting these behaviors. While the settings and opportunities at home and in shul are different than that of cheder, the principals are the same. Being a first-time listener, sitting down to daven or at the dinner table on time are variations of zerizus. Washing up when they come in from outside and not whipping their hands on their shirts are examples of nikayon and saying morning berachos from a siddur, and audibly so their parents can answer amen is a variation on our application of the level of kedushah.

It is my hope that our added efforts and the repeated messaging in the direction of will leave an everlasting impression on our children to seek to always end on a high and to always go from strength to strength.

Wishing you a good Shabbos,

Rabbi Kaplan

A PEEK AT OUR WEEK

GRADE 3

Spotlight on Mrs. Eckstein's class:

The third grade boys have been enjoying a bit of extra sunshine. On the days they finish their classwork early, they "chap arein" and take advantage of the beautiful weather. Mrs. Eckstein has been reading Mrs. Piggle Wiggle to the boys. This week they read (and discussed) The Bully Cure. The boys are enjoying the stories very much. Speaking of stories, by now most of the class has presented their book reports. They did a fine job. One boy's book sounded so interesting that another boy asked to borrow the book! In writing, the boys wrote about how a trip to the beach led to some interesting adventures. The class worked on their vocabulary with Wordly Wise and have almost completed the book!! Stay tuned for the grand spelling/vocabulary bee!! Have a wonderful Shabbos!

INCREASE YOUR לימוד התורה

FORGE A TORAH BOND WITH YOUR CHILD

BRING ברכה INTO YOUR HOME

During Shavous the Rebbe always called for an increase in לימוד התורה, adding beyond one's regular shiurim.

Starting this יום שני, join together to learn, שבת פ' קרח ב' תמוז through שבת פ' נשא, יא' סיון with your child adding to what is learned in Cheder. Set a fixed time, as outlined in our online form.

The names of all participating parents and students will be read at the Ohel this Gimmel Tammuz IYH.

Give you and your child the gift of a lifetime as you learn and grow together.
