FROM the MENAHEL

Dear Parents,

This Shabbos is shabbos mevarchim Tammuz. Thursday, Gimmel Tammuz, we will mark the yom hilulah of our Rebbe. The natural reaction and first thought of a chosid about Gimmel Tamuz is an emotional one, a heartfelt moment of reflection about what the Rebbe means to us and what we can and should do in recognition and to strengthen our connection, and devotion to the Rebbe.

Yet, as chassidei Chabad, we are charged to add a mindful and thoughtful approach to Gimel Tamuz. To meditate and reflect on the meaning of this day to a chosid of the Rebbe.

On the day of a Yahrtzeit, the heavens open, and we are able to connect our mitzvos and Torah learnig , with the Rebbe. We are able to deliver a spiritual boost to our Rebbe which benefits us, our neshomos most of all.

The preciousness of the moment cannot be overstated., but we must show our children how we utilize every moment of the 24 to connect to the Rebbe. From the first maariv until the final moments of the farbrengen we attend at the end of the day, every movement should be dedicated to reconnecting with the Rebbe.

We learn the Rebbe's Torah, we give tzedaka to a mosad because it is the Rebbe's mosad, we meditate on what the Rebbe means to us, we sing the Rebbe's nigunim, we write to the Rebbe and visit the Rebbe's daled amos at the Ohel or 770, and we go on mitvzoim as the Rebbe's shluchim. We can truly make this day memorable and deeply meaningful for our children.

I would like to wish a tremendous mazal tov to Rabbi Brawer on the birth of a grandchild. May you have much nachas from your children and grandchildren, gezunterherit.

Wishing you a good Shabbos,

Rabbi Kaplan

STUDENTS OF THE WEEK

aPEEKatOUR WEEK

On Monday we went with chalk to the nearby park during recess. Then on Thursday the first grade boys crafted edible roses lekvod shabbos. During math we used mini white boards. We learnt about dividing a 2 dimensional shape by fourth/quarters and measuring how many sides and vertices are in a trapezoid, hexagon, circle, square and triangle. We also learnt the bossy R sound in the words - corn, mark etc. We finished our show and tell program for the year, where each student presented to the class the letter that was reviewed.

Mrs. Mandel - Grade 1A

What a full week of learning our 1b class had! In our PAF reading curriculum we added new sight words and new initial blends! Our boys are KAH fantastic readers! In math we played an interactive group game to practice our addition skills. We also learned all about telling time to the hour and half hour. We made our own clocks to help us practice our skills. We had our last nutrition class with Mrs. Sobol where we learned all about the bones and muscles in our bodies. We made skeletons out of q-tips and the boys had a really fun time doing planks on the classroom floor as we learned how we can strengthen our muscles.

Mrs. Volfman - Grade 1B

We read a biography on the Wright brothers. They were most determined to invent the flying engine and "made quite a stir" when they got the first jet off the ground at Kitty Hawk. We learned the power of one who perseveres and never gives up. Talk about flying, "time flies when having fun". Summer season is in our door. We played crack the code and exchanged the many fun activities we look forward to this Summer. We know that while we are on vacation from Cheder, Cheder doesn't vacation from us!! As we complete our spelling book, we are preparing for a Spelling Bee. Each boy received his very own personal invitation to join our end of year party to celebrate our success in grade 2. Can hardly believe it! Gut Shabbos!

Mrs. Levin - Grade 2B

As the final full week of the school-year winds down, the Third Grade has much to be proud of! First of all, every day this week, when Mrs. Eckstein walked in, the boys were sitting at their desks ready to learn. And learn we did! We reviewed most of the different topics that we covered in Math this year. We learned what a fable is and what a tall tale is, and we learned some of Aesop's famous fables in our Reader. In Wordly Wise we learned unit 10. There will be a grand Spelling/Vocabulary Bee on Tuesday, the last day of English. In Science we saw a video about the human body that taught us about how our white blood cells help fight germs. We completed all the lower case letters in our handwriting book! And the last group of boys presented their inventions. Even Mrs. Eckstein brought in an "invention"! We had a fun time on Thursday trying to get the aerodynamics right on our paper rockets. ALL ARE INVITED to our INVENTION FAIR IYH this coming Monday at 3:25pm. Your son should have brought home a note about it. We are looking forward to greeting you! Have a wonderful Shabbos, a guten gebenshten Chodesh and a happy and healthy summer! May we meet for the upcoming school year in Yerushalayim
